DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 12-Septmeber-2006 has been entered.
2. Claims 2-7, 9, and 11-24 are pending.

Information Disclosure Statement

3. Applicant's Information Disclosure Statement filed on 9/12/2006 have been received, and entered into the record.

However, It is impractical for the examiner to review the references thoroughly with the number of references cited in this case. By initializing each of the cited references on the accompanying 1449 forms, the examiner is merely acknowledging the submission of the cited references and merely indicating that only a cursory review has been made of the cited references.

MPEP § 2004.13 states:

It is desirable to avoid the submission of long lists of documents if it can be avoided. Eliminate clearly irrelevant and marginally pertinent cumulative information. If a long list is submitted, highlight those documents which have been specifically brought to applicant's attention and/or are known to be of most significance. See Penn Yan Boats, Inc. v. Sea Lark Boats, Inc., 359 F. Supp. 948, 175 USPQ 260 (S.D. Fla. 1972), aff'd, 479 F.2d 1338, 178 USPQ 577 (5th Cir. 1973), cert. denied, 414 U.S. 874 (1974). But cf. Molins PLC v. Textron Inc., 48 F.3d 1172, 33 USPQ2d 1823 (Fed. Cir. 1995).

Further, it should be noted that an applicant's duty of disclosure of material and information is not satisfied by presenting a patent examiner with "a mountain of largely irrelevant [material] from which he is presumed to have been able, with his experience and with adequate time, to have found the critical [material]. It ignores the real world conditions under which examiners work." Rohm & Haas Co. v. Crystal Chemical co., 722 F.2d 1556, 1573 [220 USPQ 289] (Fed. Cir. 1983), cert. Denied, 469 U.S. 851 (1984). Patent applicant has a duty not just to disclose pertinent prior art references but to make a disclosure in such a way as not to "bury" it within other disclosures of less relevant prior art; see Golden Valley Microwave Foods Inc. v. Weaver Popcorn Co. Inc., 24 USPQ2d 1801 (N.D. Ind. 1992); Molins PLC v. Textron Inc., 26 USPQ2d 1889, at 1899 (D.Del 1992); Penn Yan Boats, Inc. v. Sea Lark Boats, Inc. et al., 175 USPQ 260, at 272 (S.D. Fl. 1972).

4. The applicant is respectfully requested to follow the procedures above for the Information disclosure statement filed 9/12/2006. The Information Disclosure Statement has not been included with this office action but will be considered when it conform with the above requirement.

Claim Objections

5. Claims 2-7, 9, and 11-24 are objected to because of the following informalities:

Claims 3, and 13 recite an "if" statement that suggests optionally, passive recitation. If the Applicant intended to have the remaining limitations after the "if" statement to be considered fully and given complete patentable weight. The "if" recitation should be changed to recite more firm and definite language (i.e. when or wherein). Since "if" statement is optional, the remaining limitation does not necessarily have to happen (i.e. the presentation of document). Appropriate correction is required.

Claim 9, lines 5-6, and 16-17, recite “used” which implies intended use never actually having to take place, the word “used” should be deleted. Claim 18 has similar language, which too needs correction.

Dependent claims 19-24 that depends on Independent claim 18 should start with “The computer readable program code according to claim 18” instead of the current recitation.

It appears, as though the “request” claimed is an electronic request. The claims should be clarified by including such recitation.

Claim 11, line 7, recite, “operative with” which suggest capability not a functionality, the recitation should be amended to “configured to”.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

6. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

7. Claims 9, and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 9, and 18 recite the limitation "the time of submission" in lines 12, and 23. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

8. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

9. Claims 2-7, 9, and 11-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Slater et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,796,489).

As to claims 9, 11, and Slater et al., discloses a system for interactive processing of a document comprising:

- a storage device (See Figure 1, shows storage devices);
- a processor connected to the storage device and to a first and second user on a computer network (See Figure 1, shows a computer connected to wide area network);
- a timing device connected to the processor;
- the storage device storing a program to control the processor (See Figure 1, shows storage devices, 21, processing unit); and
- the processor operative with the program to:
 - send at least one request determined from a selected document to a first user at a first location on a computer network (Sere column 9, lines 25-40);

receive at least one response to the at least one request from the first user (See column 9, lines 25-40);

write information obtained from the at least one response from the first user to at least one digital file (See column 9, lines 45-53);

determine a first time stamp from the timing device corresponding to the receipt of the at least one response to the at least one request from the first user (See column 8, lines 24-50);

perform a first digital signature routine on the at least one digital file to obtain an original digital signature (See column 8, lines 24-50);

record the first time stamp and first original digital signature associated with the at least one digital file in a database (See column 8, lines 24-50);

send at least one request determined from the selected document to a second user at a second location on a computer network (See column 10, lines 34-50);

receive at least one response to the at least one request from the second user (See column 3, lines 13-16);

write information obtained from the at least one response from the second user to at least one digital file (See column 3, lines 13-16);

determine a second timestamp from the timing device corresponding to the receipt of the at least one response to the at least one request from the second user (See column 13, lines 30-37, all digital signatures are stored with timestamp);

perform a second digital signature routine on the at least one digital file to obtain an original signature (See column 10, lines 51-59); and record the second timestamp and second original digital signature associated with the at least one digital file in the database (See Figure 3A, shows both signature on the document stored as a record in Database).

As to claims 2, 12, and 19, Slater et al. discloses wherein the computer network is the Internet (See column 6, line 57).

As to claims 3, 13, and 20, Slater et al. discloses further comprising to determine whether the at least one response to the least one request from the first user is valid and sending at least one additional request to the first user for additional information when the at least one response from the first user is invalid (See column 3, lines 13-16, wherein “valid” reads on “verification”).

As to claims 4, 14, and 21, Slater et al. discloses further comprising to determine whether the at least one response to the least one request from the second user is valid and sending at least one additional request to the second user for additional information when the at least one response from the second user is invalid (See column 16, lines 25-59, wherein if document is not valid or completed, more information can be requested from any user for recordation).

As to claims 5, 15, and 22, Slater et al. discloses further comprising to perform a routine determined from the selected document to provide feedback to the first user, the feedback determined in part by the at least one response to the at least one request received from the first user (See column 10, lines 34-50).

As to claims 6-7, 16-17, and 23-24, Slater et al. discloses further comprising to perform a routine determined from the selected document to provide feedback to the second user, the feedback determined in part by the at least one response to the at least one request received from the second user (See column 16, lines 25-59, wherein if document is not valid or completed, more information can be requested from any user for recordation).

Response to Arguments

10. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 2-7, 9, and 11-24 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

11. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Pallante et al. (U.S. Pub. No. 2003/0028495) teaches certification of submission of document to a 3rd. party.

Tepler et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,792,536) teaches smart card system for providing dates on digital files.
